

Reka Barton

Reka Barton is a Literacy and Dual Language Specialist. She has held many positions in PreK-12+ education, including classroom teacher positions in grades TK - 5, District Literacy Leader, Biliteracy Curriculum Writer, Professional Development Facilitator, Dual Language Coach, University Supervisor, and Adjunct Professor. The majority of her classroom experience was as an elementary school Dual Language Teacher. In this role Reka wrote curriculum for biliteracy programs in the district and provided professional development and coaching for Dual Language teachers. Reka graduated from the University of Virginia with a Bachelor of Psychology, a Master of Teaching, and holds a Multiple Subject CA Teaching Credential. Reka Barton has presented her work at numerous national and regional conferences including La Cosecha and CABE. Reka is currently pursuing a doctoral degree in the San Diego State University - Claremont Graduate University Ph.D. program and her current work focuses on Dual Language and Teacher Credentialing programs and their intersection with educational equity. Reka currently serves as a Lecturer for SDSU, teaching Reading and Language Arts in the Elementary Classroom, to teacher credential candidates. Additionally, Reka serves as a research assistant for a few professors at SDSU, collaborating on educational equity research projects around issues of binational students, equity in STEM courses, and equitable teaching and schooling practices for students of color.

cabepds@gocabe.org

(626) 814-4441 ext. 212

20888 Amar Rd., Walnut, Ca 91789