REGIONAL CONFERENCE

FOR PARENTS, PARAEDUCATORS, TEACHERS & ADMINISTRATORS IN RIVERSIDE, CALIFORNIA AND SURROUNDING AREAS

Supporting Learners and Strengthening Communities

This regional conference is designed for parents, paraeducators, teachers, and administrators seeking practical strategies and meaningful learning opportunities. Session topics include parenting approaches, inclusive education practices, and mental health awareness—each grounded in the goal of supporting students and their communities.

Premier Professional Learning Opportunities

Skill Building Across PreK–12: Participate in sessions that address the needs of multilingual and English learner students and gain strategies you can apply immediately in your school or district.

Workshops and Institutes: Learn from experienced educational leaders who bring fresh perspectives and practical tools to strengthen your professional practice.

Keynote Session: Hear from an inspiring speaker who will share practical tools with parents and educators on supporting kids' and teens' physical and emotional well-being, helping them build confidence, follow their dreams, and look toward the future with hope.

Networking Lunch: Connect with colleagues over lunch, exchange ideas, and build collaborative relationships with fellow educators.

Diverse Session Topics: Choose from a wide range of presentations designed to provide resources and strategies that help students thrive academically and socially.

This event offers a focused, collaborative environment where educators and families work together to support student success and strengthen educational communities.

KEYNOTE SPEAKER

TONY OROZCO

Executive Director,
Disciplina Positiva Parenting Workshops

Opening General Session
8:00 am - 9:00 am

Tony Orozco is an International Public Speaker, family advocate, and Executive Director of Disciplina Positiva Parenting Workshops, the most requested program in schools and organizations across California. A graduate of California State University, Fullerton, with a degree in family counseling, Tony has spent more than a decade equipping parents, educators, and communities with practical tools to raise resilient children and build healthier family connections.

Beyond his professional work, Tony is a husband—married for over 20 years—and a proud father of four teenagers. Having lived the real joys and challenges of parenting, he brings authenticity, warmth, and relatable insight to every message he shares. His dynamic and transformative style has taken him to the Univision Network and to hundreds of schools and conferences, where he inspires parents, educators, and communities to believe that raising children with love, limits, and connection is truly possible.

Whether in schools, conferences, or through media platforms, Tony's mission is clear: to provide parents and educators with practical tools that promote physical and emotional well-being, cultivating in children and teens a strong self-esteem that inspires them to chase their dreams and build a future filled with hope.
